

ANNE CATELL

Born in Bangor, Maine, I spent much of my first 15 years moving throughout New England. At the age of 16 my grandfather gave me a Zeiss Ikon camera and I was hooked. After graduate school I worked as a Special Ed. teacher by day and created a dark room in my kitchen by night where I would develop my black and white photos. For the last 25 years I've been bringing up my 4 children. With the kids all grown up (so to speak) I am now able to explore my creative side thorough photography and print making.
