

SANDRA GALDA

sandragalda.blogspot.com
sgalda@aol.com

I have always loved and been busy making art. Primarily working in oils on canvas in a contemporary realist style, I have worked in many different media. Since my first experience in designing and directing theater sets for a full stage for my large high school's plays and musicals as a teenager, I have had many episodes of large mural making for other theater and small show set design. I am currently a third year student of Ingretson Studios learning the Boston Style of contemporary realism. I received my B.S. in Graphic Design from SUNY at Buffalo and a Master of Liberal Arts degree in 2008 (concentrated in Art History) from Harvard University.