

ANN GILLESPIE

I am continually inspired by the New England landscape and glimpses of scenes that I see around me every day. My goal is to capture the feeling of a time and place, rather than create an exact representation of every detail in front of me. At the same time I do spend a lot of time observing the subtleties of light, color and form, and their relationships to each other. The scenes that I am most excited by when I am out in nature, are the ones that I find simultaneously exhilarating and peaceful.

I hold a BA in Studio Art from Hamilton College in upstate NY. After graduating I began a 30+ year career in graphic design and now continue with a freelance business today. In recent years I also recommitted to exploring my own artwork with a balance of both printmaking and pastels as main vehicles for my work.
