

Rosalie Sidoti

I am fortunate to live on Cape Ann where the light is magical and like no other place. My inspiration is endless and the possibilities are boundless. For years, I painted exclusively en plein air and the knowledge I gleaned from that process proved invaluable. I studied the clouds, the open sky day and night and under all kinds of weather conditions. At dusk especially, I saw what happened to the light when it filtered and splattered itself through the trees and across the landscape. It continues to take my breath away.

Rosalie Sidoti is a national award-winning artist and holds a MA and BFA degree in visual arts. Rosalie is a university supervisor, juror, lecturer and instructor for various art organizations in the Northeast. "I believe in the importance of teaching, mentoring and continuous learning. With that, I have dedicated myself to share my artistic knowledge and personal creative journey with the students I have the privilege to teach at Tufts University and at the various workshops I instruct".
