

Linda Stefanidakis

---

Linda was born and raised in Rhode Island along the coast of Narragansett Bay where she was able to develop a sense of beauty and tranquility for her natural surroundings. This influence and her desire for self-expression led her to pursue a program of studies at the Rhode Island School of Design where she expanded her interest in artistic expression through oils and canvas. Her love for and experience with interior design and landscape architecture as well as her passion for the sea further influence Linda's sense of subject, style and color.

Linda is a current member of:

Andover Artists Guild                      Concord Art Association
National Association of Women Artists (juried)
Newburyport Art Association    North Shore Art Association

Linda believes as an artist, she must continue to learn and improve her ability to express herself and this is a never-ending challenge. She moved to Newburyport in 1997 and has continued this pursuit. Linda currently studies with Copley Master R.S. Jackson.
