

ALAN B WARD

Landscape Photography

In explorations of the familiar and unfamiliar, I find images that capture my imagination. Sometimes a photograph reflects a moment that can never be repeated. I would like each photograph to serve as a reminder that wherever we are, there is beauty. The sounds of birdsong, wind and water, seeing the sun, clouds, moon, plants and wildlife can bring stillness into our lives.

My photographs have been form black and white, color film and more recently digital. I have studied with Kent Bowser at Ghost Ranch in New Mexico and Wilfred Richard, PhD.
